

A thought of the day in passing . . .

ON AWAKENING . . .

From a night tripping through the great hereafter,
I emerged one morn trailing clouds of laughter . . .
For that was what was there to greet me.
Laughter.
Glorious, Ebullient, laughter.
Resounding all around.

May 31, 2009 - Day 2

By Tara, all rights reserved by Bhagavan Fdn.

The book; ENLIGHTENMENT will be reprinted page by page daily on this site free and in full. For the less patient, the book may be purchased in full from Bookstore.

ENLIGHTENMENT

by Tara

THE TRUTH ABOUT ENLIGHTENMENT . . .

(Few words have been more misunderstood and obscured by hype and hyperbole.)

To know the Truth, of who and what you are, and the nature of 'Reality' is to be, to some degree . . . Enlightened.

There are many modes of knowing. There are many levels of Reality, and many levels of Enlightenment.

'Know thyself', the wise man said. This is the door; the beginning, the end. Not the 'you' that you know yourself to be as a body-mind-personality. But rather, the 'You' at source, 'The All' that you are . . . That Is, to be found in the depths of Silence.

May 31, 2009 - Day 2

From the book; ENLIGHTENMENT, all rights reserved by Bhagavan Fdn.