

A thought of the day in passing . . .

Life is circular; it is not a line.

There is no beginning; nor is there an end.

It is pure possibility.

And 'That's' not nothing.

To view previous Passing Thoughts enter Archives.*

April 4, 2010 Day 86

By Tara, all rights reserved by Bhagavan Fdn.

ENLIGHTENMENT

The book; ENLIGHTENMENT, will be reprinted page by page daily on this site free and in full. For the less patient, the book may be purchased in full from Bookstore.

ENLIGHTENMENT

by Tara

READ AT YOUR OWN RISK . . . for sincere seekers of Truth only!
(Reading may cause shock, death and Enlightenment.)

THE BEST GAME IN TOWN
(But not the only dream)

Segment -14

(Ahh my . . . playing and winning after many dreams (enlightened lifetimes) might, dare I say it, become too easy; so, one may keep making yet more complex and more evolved dream worlds to lose oneself in, as one continues to explore the infinite possibilities of dreaming! It would seem the only unforgivable is to speak of the truth, to wake people up -- tell a dreamer, he's dreaming. "Hey, you've got no clothes on!")

Well, one could . . . perhaps after a nice rest in That, Infinite Bliss of Beingness . . .

- Elect to remain, or reside in spirit worlds unknown . . .
- Become a cosmic architect for a new Game of Life.
- Return to the Dream, but as free spirit, awake while operating in it –a lucid dreamer, an ascended master. .

Or . . .

- Risk it, take the plunge, swallow the draught, don a self and enter a life of desires again . . . But, do it . . . differently.
- Return to play the game at another level, with power; perhaps as, Enlightened sovereign, head of state, a genius, a sage, a bodhisattva, a pope, a savior – the possibilities are endless.

Not bad! That's becoming a very good player. It may not be awake. But then, after waking up what else is there to do? It's the best game in town!

The End

April 4, 2010 Day 86

From the book; ENLIGHTENMENT, all rights reserved by Bhagavan Fdn