

AFTER ENLIGHTENMENT, WHAT?

is excerpted one page at a time on this site free and in full. The final book version will be published and made available in the BookStore and elsewhere at a later date.

AFTER ENLIGHTENMENT, WHAT?

by Tara

EVERYTHING AND NOTHING

Like a finely tuned instrument, I resonate
To passing thoughts, feelings and traits.
Where once I was empty pure and free,
Now I mirror the world I perceive.
Some, come 'round more frequently;
These once walked in the guise of 'me'!

*See Archives for previous entrees of this book, and the book; Enlightenment.

September 5, 2010 - Y2 - Day 22

From the book; After Enlightenment, What?, all rights reserved by Bhagavan Fdn.

A thought of the day in passing . . .

Nirvana and Samsara are the same.

Nothing really changes in Enlightenment but one's conscious awareness – not the thing itself.

But . . . that is really all you are as a self/Self; conscious awareness.

All selfhood is only the momentary illusion in and of a fragment-self.
Samsara is only the phasing in and out of the varied fragments of selves.

We are all already, 'All There Is', Divine, and perfect Buddhas, because time itself is illusion.
The illusion is in thinking any passing phase has a substantial and permanent reality.

Samsara and Nirvana are the same,
But two modes and time slots in one's experiencing of the 'All That Is'.

See Archives for all past postings.*

September 5, 2010 - Y2 Day 22

By Tara, all rights reserved by Bhagavan Fdn.