

A thought of the day in passing . . .

On relative reality

CAPITALISM VS SOCIALISM

Would we be a better world,
with just the State and the dole?

Would we not be a lesser place.
without a Taj Mahal?

Without our grand mansions, lavish gardens and parks,
a Tiffany, a Fifth Ave as well as the strip mall?

Our diversity of entertainment and entertainers . . .
Disneyland! . . . of private enterprise all.

View the mountain! . . . as vital
as the plain and the farm.

The sea; essential to us.
could it be without sand?

Black needs white and white needs black.
Color's essence is diversity . . . and its beauty.

Would you have a world all greys?

Oneness presumes numbers.
As wholes do parts.

To win only has meaning
with the possibility of loss.

The joy of striving needs something to be gained!

So in view of this, I would to you propose . . .
The only thing rightly given to an able embodied soul,

Is a job, opportunity, one's good will,
and . . . an open playing field.

To do everything for him is,
to pick the pockets of his soul.

To strip him of his dignity, his birth right
. . . his freedom and free will.

Life's very heart and essence,
is in its challenge and goals.

THE IMMORTAL

People are born, people die.

We do not.

For life goes on

And we are Life.
