

A thought of the day in passing . . .

FOR LOVE OF THE GOOD, THE NOBLE AND THE BEAUTIFUL

If we would save our country, let us begin by making of a Seat in Congress a job no man or woman would ever wish to attain but for love of God, Honor and Country, and the desire to serve same. Ordain that its only compensation be a simple modest living and the honor of one's fellow man. Then, you would get naught but the worthy.

THE BEST GAME IN TOWN
(But not the only dream)

Segment 9

~ The common Truth is only a matter of agreement. ~

The power of group agreement, although a dream, an illusion, is very strong. If you are a lone-wolf dreamer with a view too far afield from the main stream, you will be regarded as 'wrong' and rejected. You may be said to be crazy. This can be dangerous. You may be decreed 'heretic' or 'witch' and the punishment reserved for such has traditionally been death; Jesus Christ, Buddha, Socrates and a litany of lesser martyrs, witches and saints being cases in point.

~ The gods are the owners, and spectators, sitting in the grandstands behind the track, placing their bets and urging on the contenders in the race of life. ~

So is this all there is to it, to success in life -- effective dreaming -- one might ask? Actually, the answer would be no. The cornerstone principal operating is - belief. But if you cannot muster enough personal power and 'belief' within yourself, enough charisma gathering supporters for what you wish to put into effect, you will need 'something else'. That 'something else' is, 'Backers'. Behind even the smallest belief is that 'something else'. This-entire reality is a 'front', a cardboard house, without the substance provided by the 'Backers'. These Backers are the inner builders and pure thought- forms of the spirit world, symbolized as 'Angels', 'Powers' and 'Dominions', 'the gods', the 'Inner Forces', Holy Ghost, our 'Higher Selves' or GOD, however we perceive such or by whatever name called. Such portray the unseen spiritual creative energies behind our seen reality. These are the feeders and shapers of thoughts and events, and all that which reaches beyond our perceived capacity and knowledge. Humankind has been for the most part the puppets and effects of these. It is these more powerful forces that must be mustered to make a desire or idea more than merely a personal dream or imagination. It is these that give 'Authority' - often called; Manifest Destiny, Divine Mandate or 'A Calling' to a man's dreams. These give an idea substance and acceptance in the minds of man, that then takes shape and form in the world of things, events . . . or not. When one says something is destiny or God's will, it is often this process, knowingly or not, to which we are referring. Ultimately, man as an ego cannot 'do'. With his personal backers (the private reserves of creative energy in his soul) he is a greater force . . . gathered with others, incrementally more powerful . . . and aligned with the spiritual 'Powers' greater than his believed self, he is a force to be reckoned with. Most people try to add to their personal power reserve; gathering from both within and without during their life dream.
